Breeding Herds Added By Glades Brahma Buyers

Authority was given Wednesday night to purchase about 13,000 feet of 16 inch pipe with fittings for the water line to the Lake.

The Engineer is expected on Monday with prepared specifications on the pipe laying as well as the plant so that bids for contractors may be advertised and let, —

Mr. Fussel, policeman, has lost two sons in the present war and has two sons still fighting. You can imagine with what vim he carries out his orders to pick up vagrants on the streets of Belle Glade.

A healthy reaction is already evident from the local campaign among farmers and there have been very few kept in jail more than a night.

The government camps have been checking their quarters to see that the inhabitants went out on the trucks and not on foot, and the roads were cleaned out. Since the erosion in Belle Glade to stop looting there has been a decided increase in loafers in the Camp indicating that they have been leaving for Belle Glade's jooks and joints during the day and coming back late at night.

That condition is being remedied, —

Since the agitation of the National Congress for a work or fight program, the local Selective Service Board, located in Clewiston, answered many personal calls and numerous long distance calls of registrants wanting to know if it is alright to take this or that job.

Half of Florida's income some believe, is from tourists. Certainly, in peace times, we urge people to come here to loaf, if they have money to justify it. We must, therefore, be careful to not discourage one of our greatest industries.

However, Local Boards don't fail to take those sons of wealthy families; they don't hesitate to take those from here either. This local Board has no deferred registrant under 26.

We repeat, why should this community have any able bodied men under 45 not working a full week especially when they make from 75 to $1.50 per hour work? It's bit more of the "Work or Fight" slogan from the public sources, and especially by fathers of men who will answer the local labor problem largely.

Accident Prevention To Be Taught Here

Harry A. Kenning, special field representative of the Southeast division, American Red Cross, arrived in Belle Glade Monday, next, for the purpose of holding the first of a series of classes for instructors in accident prevention.

Supt. John Leonard of the County Board of Education principals to have all physical teachers to take the course and prepare themselves to act as instructors in classes to be formed in each of the communities in the County.

There will be several schools conducted by Mr. Kenning throughout the county and there will be one school in the Glades to care for the Glades teachers.

Local Talent Will Cavor In Funzappin

Among the characters of the cast, of which there are about 70, is Mrs. Grace Whitlock, who died for a song—it should be worth the price of admission.

Tap dancing, acrobatic guitar, wind and reed instruments will be featured; song birds in solo duets, quartets and ensemble will give forth.

Dramatic comedy as portrayed by Lion and Lionesse and some high school talent will develop as the mixture of the eternal triangle in a boarding house program.

The show is clean, full of fun and should afford a evening of entertainment for the audience.

Those doing chorus singing and dancing and musical specialties are Peggy Rawls, Helen Friedlein, Mrs. Alice Haddan, Helen Smith, Grace Whitlock, Mrs. Phillipine Billie Weston, Carlene Cope, Shirley Con-

Prize Animals Of Brahman Show Brought To Glades For Herd Improvement

The Van Landingham, Hamer, and the Pasture and the Sugar Company have added royal blood to their already breeding herds by the purchase of show cattle in the "greatest Brahman show ever held anywhere" at Ocala.

Everyone remarked of the show: "There are more cattle entered in competition and the quality of cattle is superior to that in any show in Texas or anywhere else."

George H. Wright, a Texan, brought a herd sold for more than $30,000 head of Brahman cattle last year, paid $660 for a bull herd and raised on the Dururance Ranch at Brighton, in the northern edge of the Glades. This bull is a half brother to bulls purchased by Hamer and Register.

There were 23 bulls in the senior calf class and five were outstanding and first prize animals. Judge Schoefield an experienced cattleman finally selected the first prize of the lot and the $1,000. Van Landingham bought it.

The first prize yearling heifer of the show was purchased by the Sugar Company.

Van Broek bought 2 bulls from the Stuart consignment. These were sireed by a double A bull and are now in the show.

With the exception of three top priced animals, most of the best animals in the sale were among the 8 heads bought by the four buyers from the South side of Lake Okeechobee.

The horse purchases as reported are: Harry, Earl of Winsor 1st; Duchess of Winsor 2nd; Van Basil 3rd; Sir Basil 7th; Register, Earl of Winsor 8th; U. S. Sugar Martin's Gold.

Rogers Hurries Potato Ceiling Adjustment

"All counties east and south of the Suwanee River (they mean Suwanee)" instead of "area north of the Suwanee and south of the Suwanee River," in Price Regulation No. 271 means that potato growers of the Glades are put on a parity with the Hastings growers for spring potatoes.

I-A Mandatory Spys Collins In Voluntary Job Changing

"Registrants now deferred in Class II-A or II-B for occupational reasons must request their Selective Service Local Board to make arrangements to return to work prior to such change," said General Vivian Collins, State Director of Selective Service in discussing recent changes in the Selective Service Regulations.

This regulation, it is determined, should be made in writing and should be accompanied by sufficient information to clearly show that the proposed change is in the interest of the war effort. Any special circumstances may be included with the change.

National Authority On Rural Problems Speaks Here Today

Dr. M. A. Dawber, Executive Secretary of the Home Missions Council of North America will make a talk to the High School students in the High School in the afternoon at the Methodist church at night.

Dr. Dawber is the author of several books on rural conditions and migrants. He has traveled extensively through the United States, Canada, Mexico, and as a recognition of his work he was brought into the Home Mission as Executive secretary.

This regulation, it is determined, should be made in writing and should be accompanied by sufficient information to clearly show that the proposed change is in the interest of the war effort. Any special circumstances may be included with the change.

BOY SCOUT WEEK "What I Learned From The Scouts Has Really Helped In The Marines"

Herbert Priest, a veteran of Tinian, Saipan and Guam as a member of the 4th Marines, while he was in boot training at P. I. wrote: "How is Billy and Lee doing in the Scouts now? Tell them to stick with it because what I learned from the Scouts has really helped me in the Marines. I already know about all of the first aid questions they gave us to study—"

Working Together

Jurius Harris

"THIS IS AN EX-BOY SCOUT WRITING FROM GERMANY and he slid around getting out of Von Rundstedt's way in December."

"There is so little the individual soldier can do, yet so much, seemingly impossible, that a combat team working together can do. It is easy to see that there is some brilliant mind behind each small move or operation and out of chaos comes a smooth plan working out in the midst of the wildest confusion of shell fire, buzz bombs, machine guns and every other lethal weapon you can imagine."

Storm Signals

Farmers "are rarely watching the economic weathercock for signs of a postwar depression storm," says Ray Anderson in the Farm Journal, "and they are taking little stock in political promises of succor. Very few are counting on what the government may do, or what schemes industry and labor may come up with. They are putting their faith in themselves, and their ability to get in shape now for whatever the future may have in store."

This growing attitude is a large measure of the helplessness many farmers feel under farm subsidy programs which are ostensibly to hold down the cost of living, but which, in reality, make the farmer depend on government as the costs of production advance, and the subsidies which the farmer must accept in lieu of the true production price for his serops, are added to the growing tax burden of the nation.

Farmers are smart enough to know that this process is but a makeshift, and that sooner or later it will leave them high and dry, or else they will become merely far mtenants of the government with their income entirely subject to political manipulation.

There Is No Benevolent Despotism

The chances of getting our labor laws amended at present so as to make them fair to labor, industry and the public, seem very remote. Instead of creating labor harmony our laws have pitted labor against industry, when as a matter of fact, labor and industry are as dependent on each other as the heart and the stomach.

So-called "labor laws" are as much a micromon as would be the term "industry laws." Law is law, and it should apply to all alike. One of the menaces to future democracy in this nation are pressure groups which claim to control blocs of votes and, with this as a club, intimidate lawmakers into passing class legislation.

Member of Congress are interested in preserving the liberty of all labor and all the people, rather than in building up leaders who have shown their defiance of government and our armed forces by their repeated disregard of no-strike pledges, and the earnest plead of the President for uninterrupted production.

The American working man is now controlled by what may at first seem to be a benevolent labor despotism, which temporarily gives special groups advantages. But this despotism is becoming an evil force that is destroying the independence of American labor. As the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, D. D., says, wage earners are being used to "furnish subservient backs upon which ambitious men may climb to power over their fellows."

Jobs That Count

A representative of the National Association of Food Chains states that: "The year ahead may see the demobilization of as many as two million soldiers for a variety of reasons. More and more men will be returning to food chain companies that will welcome these people back to their organizations with attention to their individual needs . . . It seems probable that the readjustment can and will be made without jeopardizing the jobs and security of those who, by ability and loyal service, have earned permanent positions."

"Many food chains are planning expansion programs to provide increased employment and better service to customers. These plans include new warehouse construction designed for low operating costs and the remodeling of stores and building of new stores with improved layout and equipment."

"Most food chain companies have developed training to cover some or all jobs. Most operators will consider the extension of training programs a 'must' for 1945."

Here is the stuff of which real jobs are made, the hopes and plans of taxpaying competitive enterprise. In the long run, these are the only kind of jobs that will count because they are the only kind of jobs that are productive. The comment of this food chain spokesman is typical of our nation's progressive retail distribution industry.

Lesson 60 The Thirties

In the opinion of one of the country's leading publishers, "Production without aggressive and sound selling is as futile as a hen on a china egg. It wasn't over-production that caused our trouble in the thirties, it was underselling."

"Selling, which should have stimulated the purchase of $200,000,000,000 in goods and services over the ten-year period could have provided all the employment and payrolls needed to maintain a sound economy."

This is undoubtedly true but was not entirely the retail distributors' fault that a better job of selling was not done in the thirties. As most persons will recall, the thirties were the halcyon days of political attack on the chain stores. Laws were passed in more than 20 states levying special taxes against chain stores because it was feared their efficiency and low-cost distribution methods constituted a threat to the existence of independent merchants—a fear that was not supported by fact and was grounded in nothing more substantial than political expediency.

These special tax laws were a direct brake on the distribution of the products of industry to the consumer, and still are. As long as we penalize efficiency in this manner, we cannot expect retailers to perform miracles.

After the present war is over, industry will have a greater productive capacity than ever. Whether it is passed on to the customer depends as much upon the kind of tax and regulatory laws under which distributor must operate as upon the selling ability of the retail merchant. Will we remember the lesson of the thirties.

Room For All

The railroads are America's basic form of transportation. Without them commerce would be stopped dead in its tracks. Thus all of us, even the railroads' competitors, must work for the maintenance of a transportation system which gives the railroads a fair and equal chance to carry that part of the total traffic for which they are economically best fitted on the basis of fixed costs and service.

Of all the various forms of transportation, ranging from barge canals to airlines, trucks and steamships, none is as near 100 per cent a self-supporting private endeavor as the railroads. Government barge canals, for example, are neither self supporting nor taxpaying.

Favoring one particular form of transport over another is utter folly. In a nation of 3,000,000 square miles, all forms are needed. Prejudiced enthusiasts who try to cling to special tax and regulatory benefits for their pet method of conveyance, whether it be land, sea or air, are simply cutting their own throats in the long run. Trucks could not begin to fill the shoes of the railroads, and anyone visualizing the airlines as capable of assuming the mass transportation now being borne by rail is doomed to disillusionment, just as are the railroad men who kid themselves into the idea that by making a Pullman look like the fuselage of an air transport they can take business away from the airlines.

This country has the best transportation system in the world. The reason it is the best is because in the main it is a development of competitive private industry, the backbone of which is the railroads. Any transportation worth the name must stand on its own feet and be coordinating with all other means of transportation so as to render the greatest public service.

ANTHONY'S

Thoroughness

About four years ago we rode out to see the fall crops and stopped by the Van Landings new potato field about eight miles this side of Belle Glade. There had been a lot of rain. The water level in the Hillsboro Canal was four feet higher than just over the Van Landings' dyke where only one pump was running a 60 per cent capacity to keep their pump basin at correct level. The boys were not worried about that 200 acres of new potatoes. They had planned thoroughly. They knew their job . . . they were off playing golf. They made real money from that crop.

That is the type of thoroughness Anthony's has tried to weave into this business over its 49 years of history. We have shoe men who know the art of fitting the foot . . . clothing men who have spent a lifetime almost, studying styles and who know how to fit your clothes correctly.

We have women specialists who can bring you first hand information from the style centers of the country and render a service equal to none in this part of Florida.

Our children's shop is a unit supreme in its endeavor. The hundreds of satisfied customers among the little folks is one of the happiest joys of our business career.

Make Anthony's your headquarters when in town!

tion of Mr. Wilder's birthday, again reported somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hardy and Mrs. E. E. Hardy took J. W. Squires, who has been visiting his daughter, to Miami Sunday to visit another daughter, Mrs. A. E. Crawford.

Miss Ruth Hatley visited friends in Okeechobee over the weekend.

Roger Peters of Banana River was the weekend guest of F. W. Mutchler and family.

W. H. Ruggles of West Palm Beach spent Sunday visiting old friends in St. Bay and Lake Harbor. Mr. Ruggles was a member of the South Bay school faculty last year. He was accompanied by his son, Richard.

C. B. Ming of Montgomery, Ala., now stationed at Imakolee, visited his sisters, Mrs. L. O. Ratley and Mrs. O. H. Martin Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greer of Lake Worth were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. N. Greer and family the last of the week.

The interior decoration, curtains, furniture and clothing of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Walker and family were damaged extensively one day last week by smoke and soot from an oil stove in the absence of the family. Neighbors helped clear the smoke and turned off the stoves before the return of the occupants of the house.

Mrs. J. H. McAllister of Ashburn, Ga., has been visiting in Lakeland, arriving in St. Bay for a visit with her sons, S. M. McAllister of South Bay and O. H. McAllister of Bean City and their families.

H. L. Marlowe, Sr., who suffered a relapse last week, is as well as the rest of the year, because there are unmistakable evidences that in this year Scouting will find its rebirth in nation after nation, as fast as the forces of freedom liberate them.

Members of the forty-eight Boy Scout Association in 70 different lands around the world at the outbreak of World War II in 1939 was over the million mark. Mussolini had never been beaten in Italy;

Hitler abolished Scouting in each country invaded but there is ample evidence that many war-torn countries Scouting went underground and maintained the spirit of Scouting alive. In Japan the movement was militarized.

The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America has just established a "World Friendship Fund" which gives all members of the organization in the United States an opportunity to help in the re-establishment of Scouting in countries being liberated by the fighting forces of the United Nations.

A letter to the Gulf Stream Council from Lt. Col. Phil O'Connell, Waco, Texas, boasted that Scout Troops were already being organized in Italy and France. Another letter from Charles Hooker stated boys were proudly showing themselves in Holland and Belgium in Cub and Scout uniforms.

Boy Scouts throughout the world are planning to resume their world wide friendship through correspondence, exchange of equipment and by meeting in person at the great World Scout Jamboree after the war is over.

Scouts will be given time to come. A few will be available in this community for civilian hauling. We will be glad to help you make out the necessary application. But the big thing is to keep your present equipment in the best possible shape. That's the important job we'll do for you whenever you say.

To climax the week the District Finance Committee under the leadership of chairman Harry R. Raoul, Secretary of the South Glades District will take their drive for funds to support the Gulf Stream Council budget of $17,318.34. He has selected as his special committee F. C. Dowdy, Joe Friedheim and W. R. Riddle. Members of the South Glades District will join in the kick-off breakfast at Bayfield's restaurant at 8:30 on the morning of Feb. 14.

In the beginning of the Gulf Stream Council now serving Palm Beach, Okeechobee, Indian River, Martin and St. Lucie Counties, there were only 3412 members. In 1944 that membership had grown to the point where the Council was serving 3412 members. Such growth is proof that the decision to form the Council was a wise one and that the investment in the Council is dividends.

At a recent meeting of the District Finance Committee, headed over by Chairman C. A. Bailey, Mr. Raoul announced that it was his desire that everyone in Negro Scouts and Cub Scouts.

the District should have an opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause and to that end it was decided to hold a kick-off breakfast at Bayfield's restaurant at 8:30 on the morning of Feb. 14.

A Scout Stands Watch . . .

Yes, a considerable percentage of Merchant Marine officers and men were Boy Scouts in their youth. Of these, many were Sea Scouts, an important group within the Boy Scouts of America.

Steeped in America's traditional love of ships and far places, many a former Sea Scout stands watch at the wheel of a Liberty ship which carries precious cargo to the fighting fronts . . . many a perilous voyage has been guided through sub-infested waters by marines with Sea Scout training . . . for Scouting in all its branches develops the American love of team work, responsibility and high adventure . . . of freedom and wide horizons.

The Belcher Oil Company joins with the men of the Merchant Marine to congratulate the Boy Scouts of America on their 35th birthday being celebrated from February 8th to 14th. May you continue in that spirit of Scout brotherhood and loyal citizenship which will play such an important part in future world understanding!

You help support the Boy Scouts of America when you contribute to your War Chest . . . do it today!

“Recently I ran into Crawford in the window of Main City, former Belle Glade High student and now a corporal in the Marine Corps.”

He had a long talk and I invited him over for dinner. He was in the best of health but wished to be back home.

“Would like to congratulate the coach, the faculty and the students on your wonderful season. From all accounts the team did right by itself. Just regret that I wasn’t there to help them along.”

Afternoon Meeting Of W. M. U. Held

The Women’s Missionary Church held a joint business and program meeting at the home of Mrs. Allen Green Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. W. Rashley, president, presided over the business session and plans were discussed for the Palm Lake Association dinner.

LOCAL TALENT

Continued from page one. “Nash and I had a long chat and we found out we were tied up at the same docks, and that we were in the same task force. Our talk of course centered around Belle Glade and its residents. Upon departing, Nash gave me his address and after looking at it, I said, ‘I thought you were third class.’ He said, ‘No sir, I am first class, just had to borrow this third class jacket and edged us over to the curb.’

“It was the same story with both of us, we wanted to be back home and we are both envious of a certain rademan third class who worked so hard for his rate to get duty at Melbourne, Fla.—a land of luxury—tough duty,”

Musie before the show will be under the direction of Mrs. Wendell Allum and orchestra will be composed of Ella Mae Hopkins, Claude F. Jones, Robert Walker, Paul Clancy, Jeanne Hooker, Barnes Creech, Bob Jones, Carl Marshall, Doris Rhymes, Dorothy Hadden, Ashely, Mrs. Hopkins, Bill McClellan, Derril Haddan, Dick LeFebvre, Edna Barbara Will.

Pianists are Beverly Lutz, Mary Eleanor Kidder and Eleanor Horne.

A feature in connection with the show is a Victory Tiny Tot.

Photo booth and slides will be in the window of the Main City, former Belle Glade High student and now a corporal in the Marine Corps.”
